

Figure S1: White blood cells (WBC) populations during one, two, and three-month-old in MC and CR group. No significant differences were observed between MC and CR group for WBC population during the period of study. Data are presented as the mean \pm SD