Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Hexapods are a diverse and abundant group of animals that are important to a variety of research dictates. For example, hexapods act as bio-indicators of ecosystem function and pest status and serve as model systems for questions concerning physiology, embryology, genetics, and social interaction. The editorial board and staff at Insects is committed to providing contributors an open access forum to showcase objective and innovative research as well as succinct review articles. Our journal is dedicated to providing timely and thorough review of qualified submissions and we welcome you to submit a contribution.

Aims and Scope

Insects (ISSN 2075-4450) is an international, peer-reviewed open access journal of entomology published by MDPI online quarterly. The journal publishes reviews, research papers, and communications related to the biology, physiology, and behavior of insects and arthropods.

Our aim is to encourage scientists to publish their experimental and theoretical results in as much detail as possible. There is no restriction on the length of the papers.

The scope of Insects includes:

- Basic and applied entomology
- Biology, physiology, and ecology of insects
- Insect classification / taxonomy
- Reproduction and development of insects
- Evolution of insects
- Insects and public health
- Insects and environment
- Insects and plants
- Pest management
