Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Catheter ablation is an effective treatment option for cardiac arrhythmia. For decades, there have been remarkable advancements in mapping and ablation techniques and technology, helping clinicians further understand the mechanism of arrhythmias, in order to facilitate procedures, and to improve the safety of ablation and patients' clinical outcomes. The aim and scope of this Special Issue mainly focus on, but are not limited to, the following: current mapping and ablation techniques for arrhythmias, procedural endpoints and outcomes, procedural complications, and prevention strategies. We welcome original research, systematic reviews, state-of-the-art reviews, challenging/informative case series, challenging/informative images in mapping and ablation, new technologies, etc.
