Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Electrophysiology in cardiology requires computer technology, and remarkable progress has been made in recent years. Some particularly noteworthy advancements have been made in ablation used as a treatment for atrial fibrillation, high-density 3D mapping and pulse fields, and catheters. In the future, there is a high expectation for combining diagnosis with AI. As computer technology continues to advance, we should expect continued advances in electrophysiological approaches to atrial fibrillation. We look forward to receiving your submissions of notable new discoveries in this field.

Message from the Editorial Board

There has been an explosion of gene and target based research and therapeutics in the multitude of fields that compose clinical medicine. The Journal of Clinical Medicine's (JCM) staff and editorial board are dedicated to providing cutting edge, timely, and peer-reviewed articles covering the diverse subspecialties of clinical medicine. The journal publishes concise, innovative, and exciting research articles as well as clinically significant articles and reviews that are pertinent to the myriad of disciplines within medicine. The articles published are relevant to both primary care physicians and specialists. The journal's full-texts are archived in PubMed Central and indexed in PubMed. Please consider submitting your manuscripts for publication to our journal and check us out on-line!

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Medicine, General & Internal) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Medicine)
