Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

The aim of this Special Issue is to provide original research and systematic review papers regarding important current insights and advances in the pathophysiology, diagnosis, management and prognosis of vascular calcification of the brain. While all submissions related to vascular calcification of the brain are welcomed, submissions on PFBC will be considered with particular interest. Researchers in the field of neurology, geriatric medicine, radiology, genetics, and pre-clinical research are particularly encouraged to submit their manuscripts for this Special Issue. We look forward to receiving your contributions.
