Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

In recent years, an enormous progression in the diagnosis and treatment of gastrointestinal diseases has occurred due to the development of new instruments and technological methods, such as Fibroscan instead of liver biopsy for the evaluation of liver fibrosis in Hepatitis C, mechanical devices for the treatment of gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD), using fecal microbiota for the treatment of Clostridium difficile, and so on. The aim of this issue is to provide a platform for clinical research and clinicians in the field of gastrointestinal diseases to publish their research findings and updated reviews on topics related to the diagnosis and treatment of gastrointestinal diseases. Papers on treatments for GERD and their impact, the diagnosis of liver diseases, small bowel US for IBD evaluation, the impact of GFD for CD, etc., are invited.
