Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue presents insights on experiences, theories, concepts, and practices on land tenure and spatial functions in the context of liveability around the world. We, therefore, invite conceptual, case studies, field research, and review articles focusing on (but not limited to) the following themes:

- Spatial planning issues in the context of urban, peri-urban, and rural areas;
- Land governance (encompassing land management, land administration, and land policy issues);
- Spatial planning (including physical planning, land use planning, town and country planning, or urban and regional planning);
- Property studies (embracing property valuation, real estate management, and facilities of management applications within the public and private sector);
- Application of land methods to societal issues (including the history of dispossession, gender concerns, environmental issues, health or well-being and social changes linked to behavioural problems related to land tenure security).
