Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Dentistry, a vital branch of medicine, encompasses the research, diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of disorders and conditions affecting the oral cavity. In recent years, the field of dentistry has seen ongoing enhancements in patient care delivery, with the introduction of new clinical practice guidelines. However, the field requires continuous updates to incorporate emerging knowledge from allied specialties such as pharmacology, pathology, biomaterials, and cell tissue engineering. The primary objective of this edition is to offer a comprehensive overview of the latest ideas, opinions, developments, and key issues in dentistry on a global scale. Research topics may span from innovative procedures and protocols to advancements in technology and materials. Both prospective and retrospective research contributions are welcome, and we actively encourage the submission of review articles.
