Message from the Guest Editors

In this Special Issue, we encourage the submission of manuscripts on any aspect of AD diagnosis, pathogenesis and treatment. We welcome original studies, reviews, and opinion articles. This Special Issue will focus on hot topics related to AD, bring in experts in the field to discuss current therapeutic approaches, as well as novel treatments under development. The diagnosis, predictive tools and molecular mechanisms of disease pathophysiology are also of great interest. The importance of lifestyle factors such as diet and physical activity is also recognized. This Special Issue in honor of the 20th Anniversary of the Alzheimer's Foundation of America will provide a state-of-the-art overview of this subject, which will serve as a valued point of reference for geriatricians, neurologists, internal medicine physicians, psychiatrists, neuroscientists, molecular biologists and healthcare workers.
