Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to provide insight into the move toward bioproducts and concomitant bioengineering approaches in achieving sustainable and а environmentally friendly economy, the obstacles that were met and overcome throughout this path, and to critically evaluate the challenges that still remain. Accordingly, it will foster contributions addressing the biobased production of building blocks/final products including chemicals, flavors, foods, fuels, nutraceuticals, or pharmaceuticals, preferably favoring the use of cheap, plentiful, and/or easily renewable raw materials. The scope of the Special Issue is intended to be of interest for those already involved in the field as well as highly appealing for those readers aiming for an overview of existing knowledge within the framework of sustainable production processes and on foreseeable prospective developments.
