Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue invites authors to contribute reviews and research papers on freshwater ecology and protection, water management, sustainable development, and modern techniques and tools for monitoring aquatic ecosystems (rivers, lakes, wetlands) localized within or close to protected areas.

The Special Issue aims to publish research results from the following areas:

- Inventory and monitoring of natural habitats;
- Water management of river valleys;
- Implementation of sustainable development principles;
- Environmental impact assessments in protected areas;
- Remote sensing in protected areas;
- Climate changes;
- Protected areas;
- Protection of water resources;
- Problems associated with the exploitation of hydrotechnical devices;
- Inland water transport;
- Best river restoration practices.
