Message from the Guest Editors

Cyber-physical systems exist everywhere in different sizes, with different functionalities and capabilities. Some examples can be listed as collaborative robots, smart cities, industry 4.0 applications, autonomous systems (vehicles, drones), intelligent transport systems, and so on. These systems are not only pushing the limits of traditional engineering practices but also providing new opportunities to solve the most important problems of humanity.

Advancements in data analytics, artificial intelligence, increasing computation and sensing capabilities, interoperability improvements through cloud solutions, and similar advancements in technology promise to unlock the considerable potential of future cyber-physical systems.

In this call, we are looking for cyber-physical systems' architectures, applications, methodologies, implementations, theoretical and conceptual frameworks, case studies and research finding which primarily focuses on human needs, social implications, and sustainability.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Technologies, provides a single focus for reporting on developments of all technologies, regardless of their application. It is our intention that Technologies becomes the journal of choice for both researchers wanting to publish their work and technologists wishing to exploit the high quality research across a wide range of potential applications. Through its open access policy, its quick publication cycle, Technologies will facilitate the rapid uptake and development of the research presented, ultimately providing benefit to the wider society.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within ESCI (Web of Science), Scopus, Inspec, Ei Compendex, INSPIRE, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Engineering, Multidisciplinary) / CiteScore - Q1 (Computer Science (miscellaneous))
