

Figure S1: Melting curves of potential reference genes and target genes under study. A single peak detected in the melting curves examination confirmed the amplification of unique products by each primer pair and no primer dimer formation.

