

Fig. S1 Normal cauliflower curd (A) and typical ricey curd (B). The riceyness may appear milky white, green, purple or other colors under different temperature, light and other environmental conditions.