

Figure S1. Average maximum monthly air temperature (T_{\max} , °C) in the Experimental Garden of the Department of Environmental Biology during the experimental period of the year 2017. T_{\max} is used as indicator of temperature stress during the summer season. Data from the ClimateNetwork (Climate Consulting s.r.l.) station located within Sapienza University of Rome, courtesy of Prof. A.M. Siano.