

Supplementary Figure 1: Flexor withdrawal reflex test. Photograph of the maneuver used to pinch the dorsum of the foot with a hemostat for assessing pain sensitivity and the induced withdrawal response. The pinch was applied at a proximal (pointed by arrow), a mid (arrow) and a distal point (hemostat) between ankle and hoof.

