

Figure S1: Effect of MSC secretome on liver cells viability. HepG2 and HepaRG cells were incubated with different concentrations of MSC secretome (from 20 to 100 μg/ml) and a viability MTT assay was performed 24 hours later. Cell viability was normalized against the secretome vehicle (PBS) control group and expressed as percentage. Data are presented as means ± SEM (n=3) of three independent experiments.