

Supplementary Figure 1. Activation of the p38 MAPK pathway could inhibit mammary tumorigenesis through the induction of p53-mediated apoptosis. Proliferation, differentiation and inflammation targeted genes (red star) are involved in the MAPK signaling pathway were upregulated in all the treatment groups.