

Figure S1. Long-term electrocardiography (ECG) of case 4 before a dyskinetic episode and at the beginning of an episode. ECG between and before an episode reveals normal sinus rhythm with mild tachycardia (120-180 bpm). When a dyskinetic episode starts, ECG is overlapped by muscle artefacts. ECG did not reveal cardiac pathology.