

Figure S1. Rarefaction curves on sequencing data obtained from different compartments. The number of observed characteristics (representative of the ASVs) found in each sample is reported as a function of the sequencing effort. The asymptotic trend of the curves indicates that the number of readings generated is representative of the entire community.