Supplementary Materials: Video S1: The tail-diving behavior involves the male diving beneath the female and gently bumping her abdomen with his body. Video S2: The process in which the female lies on her side in the water, swaying her body while releasing eggs. Video S3: Close-up video footage of the female spawning in an upright position.