

Figure S1. Scatter plots of PM_{2.5} concentrations of IRMs with those of FEM, i.e., BAM, by the level of relative humidity. The data points refer to each paired hourly mean value (n=240, except ESCORT which had 120 points due to malfunction of a device with records of high internal temperature values during our outdoor test).