

Figure S1. Enzymatic activities plates. Dark-black cultures were considered positive β -glucosidase activity (A), positive β -glucanase activity showed a clear halo on the surface after removing the colonies (B), a clear halo around the colonies reported a positive protease activity (C) and β -lyase activity was considered positive when the growth of the isolates was significant (D).