SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIALS

The effects of aging and cognition on gait coordination analyzed through a network analysis approach

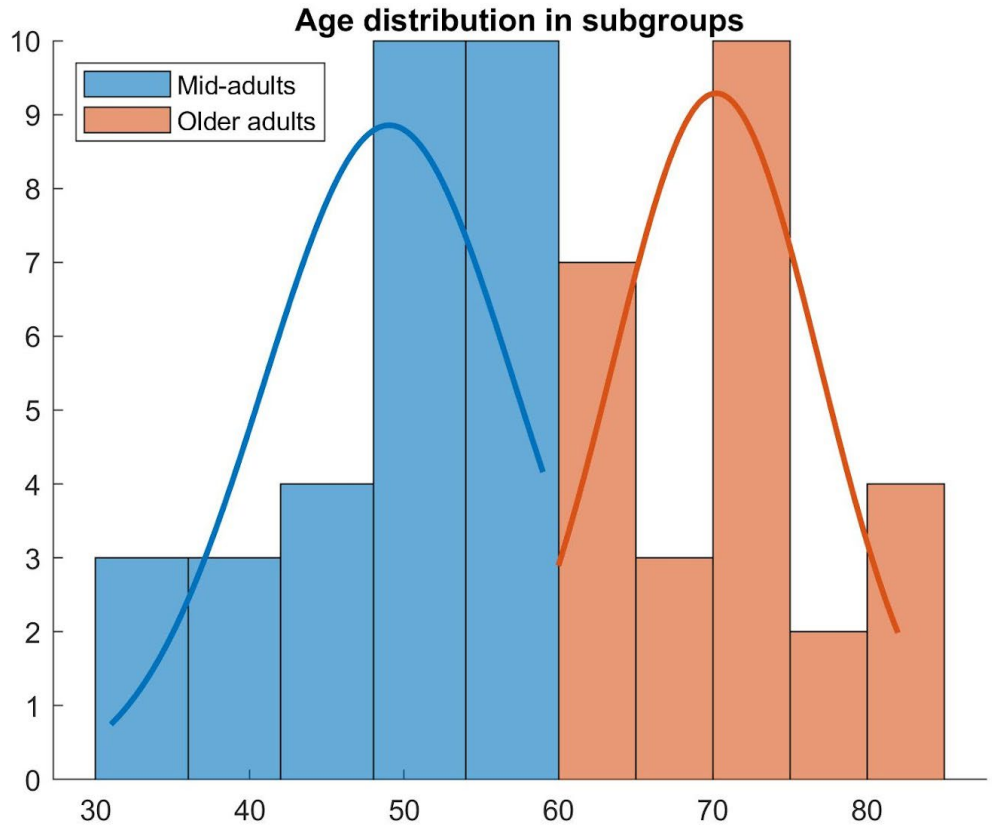

Figure S1 - Distribution of ages across the two subgroups: the histogram shows the frequency of participants within each age interval, while the curves represent the estimated age distribution in the two groups. The mid-adults group shows a peak around 49 years, whereas the older adults group peaks at approximately 70 years.