

The prophylactic and multimodal activity of two isatin thiosemicarbazones against Alzheimer's disease in vitro

Barbara Mavroidi¹, Archontia Kaminari^{1*}, Dimitris Matiadis¹, Dimitra Hadjipavlou-Litina², Maria Pelecanou¹, Athina Tzinia¹, Marina Sagnou^{1*}

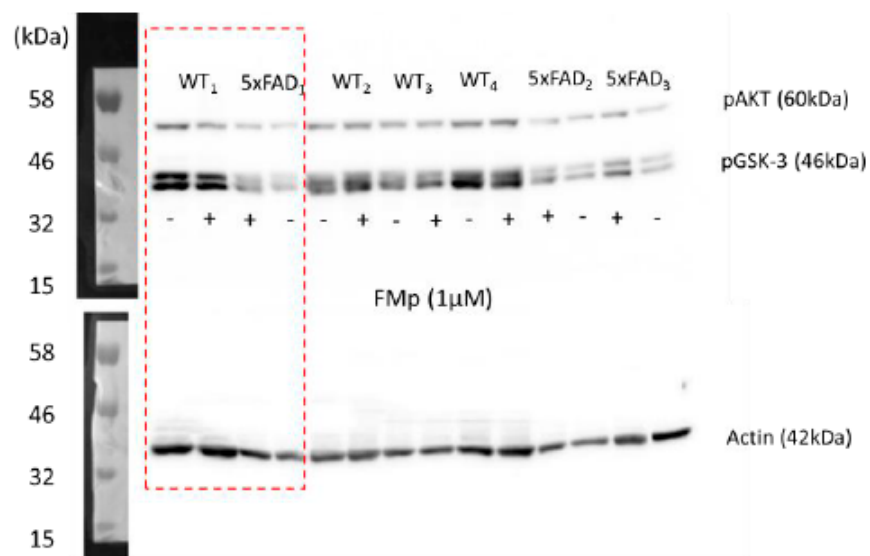

Figure S1: Full-length western blots. Red brackets depict samples selected as representative results from 3 to 4 biological replicates per Isatin treatment. Please note that selected 5xFAD samples have been inverted in the final text for presentation purposes.