

Fabrication of Novel Bio-Composites Based on Rice Milk for the Delivery of Capsaicinoids as Green Herbicides against Cynodon dactylon Weed

Gianluca Viscusi ^{1,*}, Elena Lamberti ¹, Giovanna Aquino ², Manuela Rodriquez ² and Giuliana Gorrasi ¹

¹ Department of Industrial Engineering, University of Salerno, Via Giovanni Paolo II, 132, 84084 Fisciano, SA, Italy; ellamberti@unisa.it (E.L.); ggorrasi@unisa.it (G.G.)

² Department of Pharmacy, University of Salerno, Via Giovanni Paolo II, 132, 84084 Fisciano, SA, Italy; gaquino@unisa.it (G.A.); mrodriquez@unisa.it (M.R.)

* Correspondence: gviscusi@unisa.it

Supporting Information

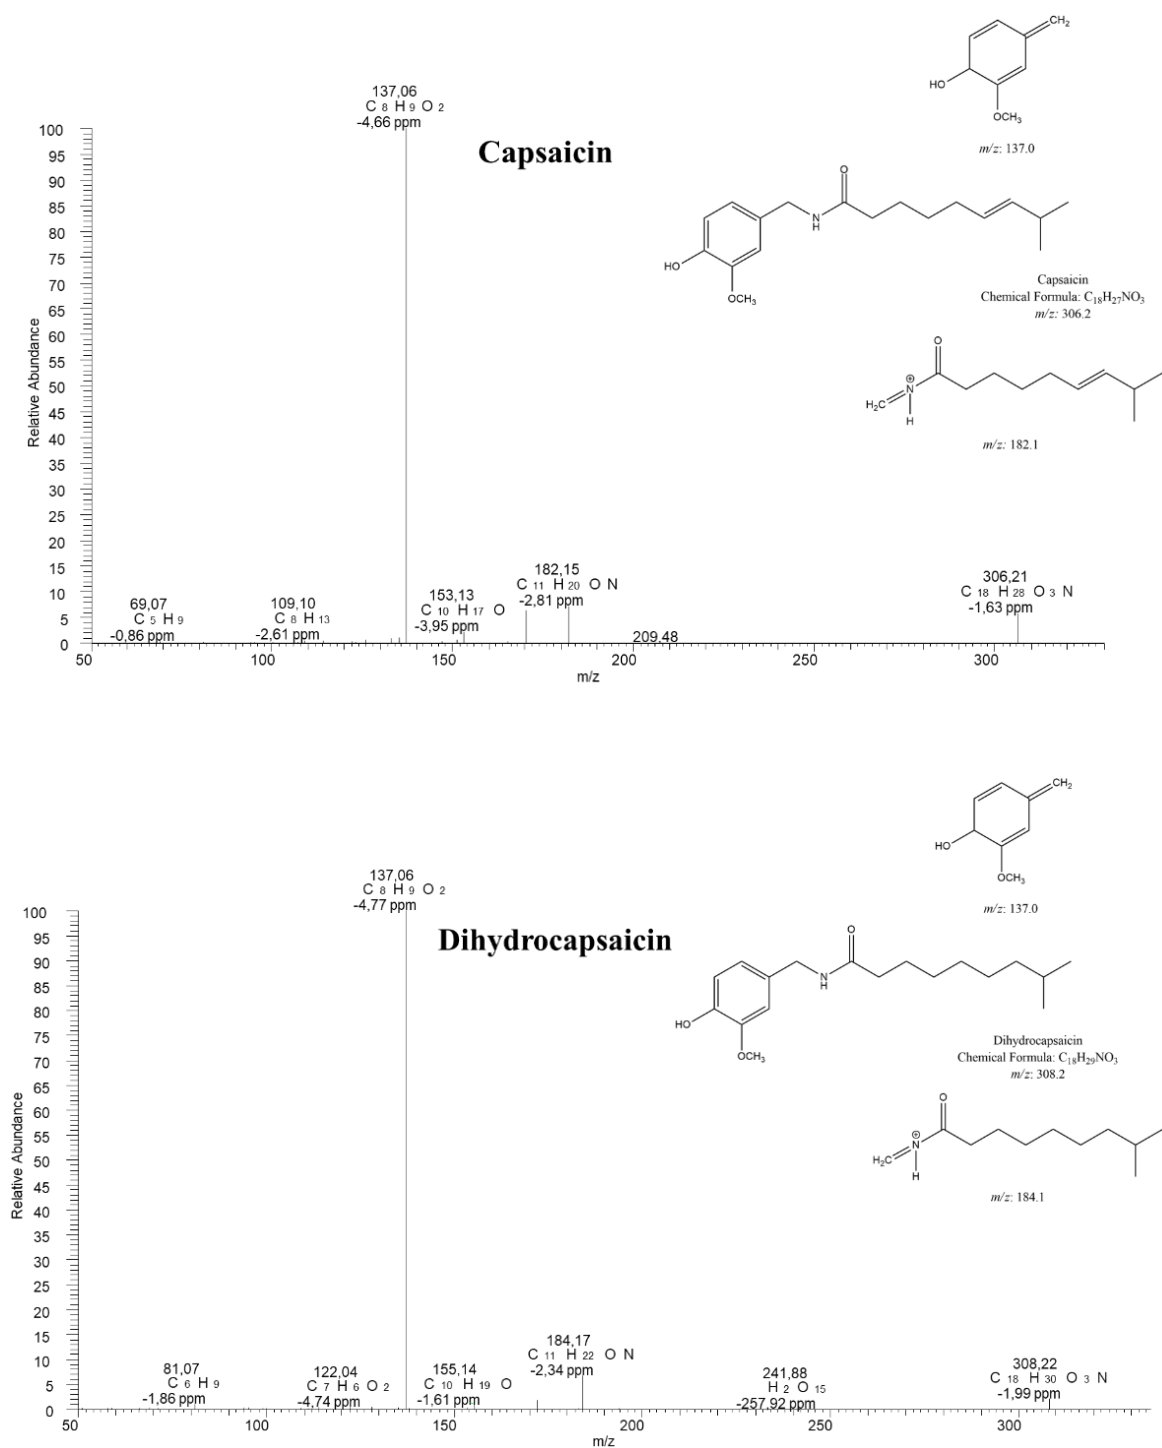

Figure S1. MS/MS spectra of investigated compounds extracted by chili pepper.

Figure S2. TICs of chili pepper extract obtained by LC-MS analysis (ESI- on the top and ESI+ on the bottom).

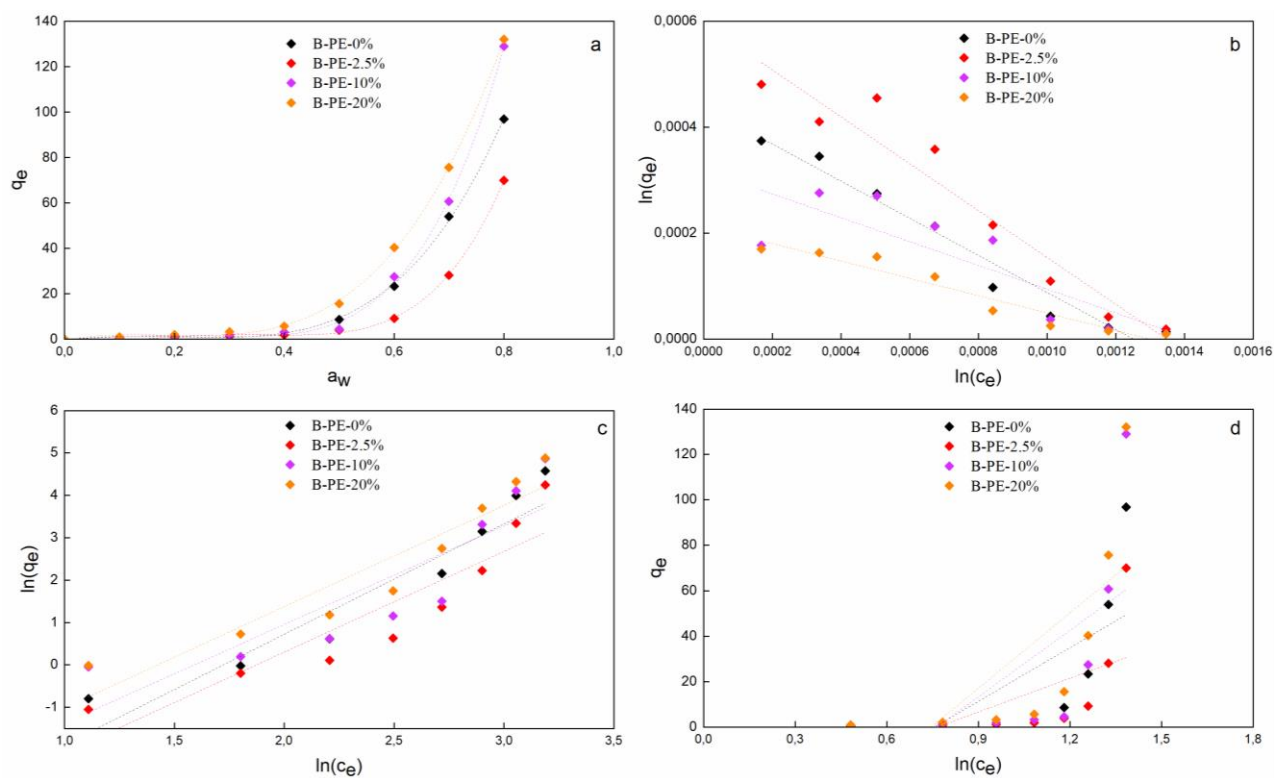

Figure S3. Sorption data fitted by isotherm models: a) polynomial; b) Langmuir; c) Freundlich and d) Temkin.