

Tress Structure and Functional

How do variation and covariance of leaf functional traits influence Schinus terebinthifolia Raddi (Anacardiaceae) acclimation to light and water availability in tropical dry ecosystems?

Saulo Pireda¹; Guilherme Rodrigues Rabelo¹; Emilio de Castro Miguel²; Ângela Pierre Vitória³; Maura Da Cunha^{1,4}

Maura Da Cunha, Biosciences and Biotechnology Center, Cellular and Tissue Biology Laboratory, Plant Biology Sector, Universidade Estadual do Norte Fluminense Darcy Ribeiro, Campos dos Goytacazes – Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

Email: maurauenf@gmail.com

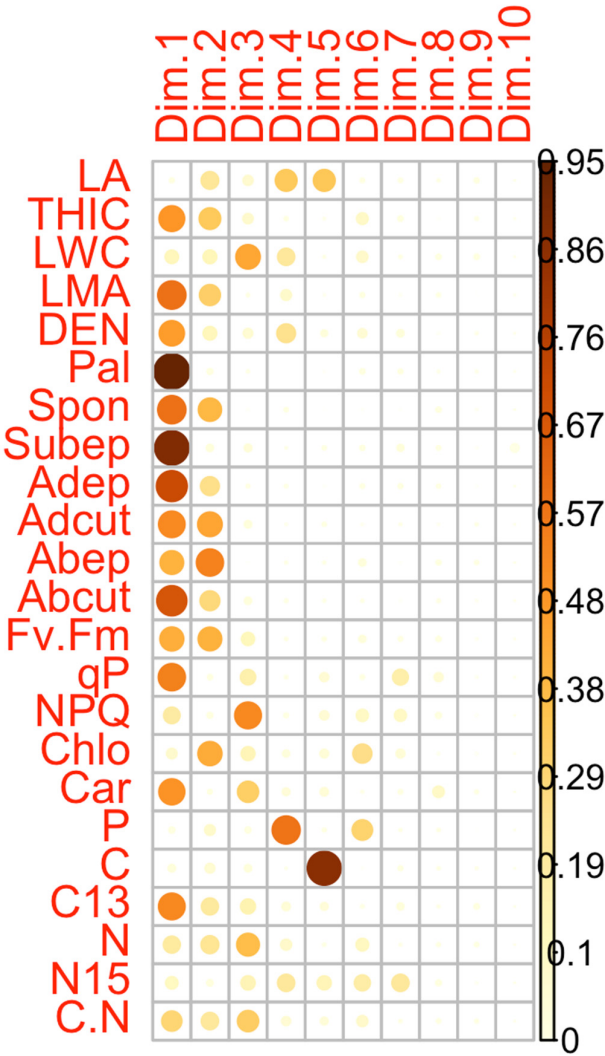

Figure S5: Correlation matrix between functional traits and each dimension of the Principal Component Analysis (PCA). Note that most significant covariations are found in Dim1 and Dim2. The significance of covariations is represented by circle size, with reference to the adjacent color scale.