

Figure S1 The three-dimensional structure of StKHDs. The amino acid residues are depicted using a color gradient ranging from blue at the N-terminus to red at the C-terminus. The structural predictions for all StKHDs were generated using the AlphaFold protein structure database, which utilizes advanced artificial intelligence algorithms to infer the three-dimensional conformation of a protein based on its amino acid sequence.