

Figure S3 The genes were clustered, and then the tree was clipped into different modules using the dynamic shearing method (the minimum number of genes in the module was set to 30, and the merge cut height value was set to 0.25)