

Figure S1. Survival curves of patients included in this systematic review based on different histological findings. Papillary and tubulovilous subtypes present with a moderate prognosis, while mucinous and poorly differentiated subtypes drop quickly, suggesting a poor prognosis. Especially for the poorly differentiated subtype, the quick drop of the survival curve shows a dramatic survival impact.