

Figure S6 Difference multiple bar chart

Note: The horizontal axis represents the log₂FC of differential metabolites, which is the logarithmic value of the difference multiple of differential metabolites with a base of 2. The vertical axis represents the differential metabolites. Red represents upregulated differentially expressed metabolites, while green represents downregulated differentially expressed metabolites.