

Figure S3 Principal Component Analysis Score Chart

Note: PC1 represents the first principal component, PC2 represents the second principal component, PC3 represents the third principal component, and percentage represents the interpretation rate of this principal component to the dataset; Each point in the figure represents a sample, and samples from the same group are represented by the same color.