

Field	Classifications	Description
N° of projects		Number of projects (from the projects database) in which the stakeholder participates
ID	100 to 2030 (10-in-10 intervals)	Unique identification number from the projects database
Search by surname	NA	Stakeholder's last name for a more efficient search
Full name	NA	Stakeholder's full name
Strategic line of the CONACYT Agenda	Origin and ecological importance; Monitoring, modeling and early warning; Socio-economic and environmental impacts; Containment, harvest, and disposal; Potential uses; Restoration; Regulations; Communication and education; International cooperation; Comprehensive attention	The stakeholder is assigned to one of the nine strategic and multidisciplinary lines of the CONACYT Agenda (https://conacyt.mx/sargazo/images/Agenda/2020/Agenda_Conacyt_Sargazo-2020_.pdf). If the stakeholder works with more than one line, the stakeholder gets classified in a new line called "Comprehensive attention". It is important to note that within the government sector, only institutions or working group leaders were included in the database.
Title	NA	Function or title of the stakeholder in his company, organization, university, etc.
Field of expertise or lines of research	NA	Stakeholder's main field of study
Institution	NA	Name of the institution, organization, etc., of affiliation
Location	NA	City and state in which the institution is located

Sector	Government sector; Dependencies abroad; Academic sector; Private sector; Civil society	Government sector: includes agencies at the municipal, state, and federal levels; Dependencies Abroad: Institutions or organizations headquartered outside of Mexico that conduct research or carry out initiatives on the Mexican coasts; Academic sector: includes public and private universities, research centers, institutes, research consortia, etc.; Private sector: includes companies, hotels, banks, etc.; Civil society: includes NGOs, external consultants, civil associations, non- profit associations, etc.
Subsector	NA	Excluding the academic sector, some sub-sectors are specified. For example, in the case of government sector, the municipal, state and federal levels are identified as subsectors