administrative sciences

Dear colleagues,

On behalf of the Evaluation Committee, we are pleased to announce the winners of the 2019 Administrative Sciences Travel Awards, which have been granted to the following:

Katherina Kuschel, a Post-Doctoral fellow from Universidad Tecnológica Metropolitana, will attend the 8th International Conference of Work and Family, July 1–2, 2019, in Barcelona, Spain, to present her following paper: "The new me at home and in my business": The role of gender-sensitive entrepreneurial training.

Virginia Fani, a PhD Student from University of Florence. Her work will be presented at the Winter Simulation Conference 2019, USA, December 8–11, 2019.

With such high-quality applications for the awards, this was a difficult decision, and we would like to thank all applicants for submitting their diverse and fascinating range of research topics. We congratulate the winners for their accomplishments.

Prof. Dr. Dirk van Dierendonck
Editor-in-Chief

2019 ADMINISTRATIVE SCIENCES TRAVEL AWARDS
WINNERS

Administrative Sciences aims to advance and communicate knowledge concerning management theory and practice both in public administration and in for-profit organizations; it encourages submissions that build on interdisciplinary research in related fields, such as business, economics, sociology, physiology, communication theory, or artificial intelligence, and their implications in management, organizations, and society.

Please click here for more information on Administrative Sciences:

https://www.mdpi.com/journal/admsci