

Special Issue

Advancing Environmental, Social and Corporate Governance (ESG) Research: Integrating Sustainability in Corporate Practices and Reporting

Message from the Guest Editor

The aim of this Special Issue is to collate pioneering qualitative and quantitative research in the areas of sustainability management, ESG reporting and impact accounting, governance for environment and social issues, integrated reporting, SDGs and 2030 UN agenda, marketing and greenwashing, ESG data and business, sustainability reporting assurance (SRA), and green and sustainable finance.

We welcome papers on the contextualization of the topics mentioned below with respect to the management and governance of emerging organizational problems to cope with environmental and social concerns at business and corporate levels:

- Sustainability management and business;
- ESG reporting and sustainability performance measurement;
- Governance for environmental and social impacts;
- Communication and marketing in sustainability: spotting greenwashing;
- Green and sustainable finance.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Welcome to Administrative Sciences, the journal aims to advance and communicate knowledge concerning management theory and practice both in public administration and in profit organizations; it encourages submissions that build on interdisciplinary research in related fields, such as business, economics, political science, gender studies, psychology, sociology, physiology, communication theory or artificial intelligence and their implications on management, organizations and the society. Join us on a journey through the Administrative Sciences, where management merges with innovation.
