

Special Issue

Fostering Entrepreneurship in a Changing Environment

Message from the Guest Editors

The COVID-19 pandemic has affected worldwide economies in a way that has not been seen before, with its impacts being felt both socially and economically. In this case, entrepreneurship is considered crucial for the recovery of the global economy from the impact of COVID-19 crises (Lien De Cuyper, Burcu Kucukkeles, & Raphael Reuben, 2020), as it fosters job creation and drives the adoption of innovations, that can alleviate the impact of the economic crisis. This special issue aims to uncover how the pandemic has affected entrepreneurship, in its multiple forms and types, and how entrepreneurship can be fostered in this changing environment. We welcome contributions related, but not limited, to the following topics:

- Entrepreneurial ecosystems and local development;
- Academic entrepreneurship;
- Entrepreneurial university;
- Female, migrant and minorities entrepreneurship;
- Social and sustainable entrepreneurship;
- Entrepreneurship education in the aftermath of COVID 19;
- Impact of economic and social crisis on the entrepreneurial process and new business creation;

The deadline for manuscript submission is 1st December 2022.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Welcome to Administrative Sciences, the journal aims to advance and communicate knowledge concerning management theory and practice both in public administration and in profit organizations; it encourages submissions that build on interdisciplinary research in related fields, such as business, economics, political science, gender studies, psychology, sociology, physiology, communication theory or artificial intelligence and their implications on management, organizations and the society. Join us on a journey through the Administrative Sciences, where management merges with innovation.
