Corporate Environmental Sustainability and Business Strategy

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to invite submissions for a Special Issue titled "Corporate Environmental Sustainability and Business Strategy." The aim of this Special Issue is to explore the intersection between corporate strategies and environmental sustainability practices. It focuses on how firms strategically integrate sustainability into their business models to enhance competitive advantage, drive innovation, and respond effectively to stakeholder and regulatory pressures. The scope covers strategic management approaches, ESG performance, sustainable business model innovation, green technology adoption, and sustainable supply chain management. We encourage submissions that provide insights from various industrial sectors and diverse geographical contexts. This Special Issue seeks interdisciplinary contributions from economics, management studies, environmental sciences, and related fields to bridge existing literature gaps regarding the strategic embedding of environmental sustainability into corporate practices.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Welcome to Administrative Sciences, the journal aims to advance and communicate knowledge concerning management theory and practice both in public administration and in profit organizations; it encourages submissions that build on interdisciplinary research in related fields, such as business, economics, political science, gender studies, psychology, sociology, physiology, communication theory or artificial intelligence and their implications on management, organizations and the society. Join us on a journey through the Administrative Sciences, where management merges with innovation.
