

Special Issue

Sustainable Development and Project Stakeholder Management

Message from the Guest Editors

The Special Issue will focus on the operational aspects of the topic. The overall aim is to enhance the knowledge on HOW project stakeholder management is/has been/can be/should be undertaken in order to achieve sustainable development. Its scope encompasses studies from both the perspectives of the single projects and the permanent organization. Papers presenting theoretical and empirical research, and covering projects within all sectors of private enterprise, public organizations, NGOs, and partnerships among more organizations, are welcome.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Welcome to Administrative Sciences, the journal aims to advance and communicate knowledge concerning management theory and practice both in public administration and in profit organizations; it encourages submissions that build on interdisciplinary research in related fields, such as business, economics, political science, gender studies, psychology, sociology, physiology, communication theory or artificial intelligence and their implications on management, organizations and the society. Join us on a journey through the Administrative Sciences, where management merges with innovation.
