Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

The significance of bees for both the planet and agribusiness is indisputable. From this perspective, it is essential to emphasize that understanding the factors that interfere with the population development of a colony is relevant in assisting with the preservation of these insects, thereby aligning with the concept of one health.

This Special Issue is dedicated to publishing research in the field of bee proteomics and genomics and will include interdisciplinary studies. All types of articles, such as original research, opinions, and reviews, are welcome.

Feel free to let me know if you have any specific concerns or if there is anything else you would like me to address.
