

Special Issue

From the Lab to the Field: Towards the Application of Plant-Growth-Promoting Microorganisms in Crop Production

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to provide a collection of research works on the feedback of microbial inocula applications at the plant–soil continuum that will add knowledge towards an efficient scaled-up application from the lab to the field. We welcome manuscripts, both original research papers and review articles, which provide new insights into the effects of microbial inocula on plant performance, plant-associated microbial diversity, and soil fertility.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Agronomy draws together researchers from diverse areas of agricultural research with a common aim of enhancing agricultural productivity globally. The journal provides unlimited free access to all those interested in advancing agricultural science from both the research and general community. Papers are released immediately after acceptance through the internet.

Agronomy is supported by our authors and their institutes through low article processing charges (APC) for accepted papers. We hope you will support the journal by becoming one of our authors.
