

Special Issue

Machine Learning in Medical Signal and Image Processing

Message from the Guest Editor

We invite you to submit your latest research in the area of developing and applying machine learning algorithms for medical applications to this Special Issue, "Machine Learning in Medical Signal and Image Processing". We are looking for new and innovative machine learning approaches with medical applications. Potential applications include, but are not limited to, biomedical signal processing, biomedical image processing, biosensors, bioinformatics and computational biology, neural and rehabilitation engineering, cardiovascular engineering, therapeutic and diagnostic systems, robotics, clinical engineering, healthcare information systems and telemedicine, devices and technologies, and emerging topics in biomedical engineering.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Algorithms are the core of computational mathematics and computer science. The whole area has been considered from different perspectives, which has led to the development of several sub-communities. The aim is to bring together researchers and practitioners from different areas of computational mathematics and computer science and to offer a platform for interdisciplinary applications in different areas of science and technology. In this way, Algorithms may become a forum for the exchange of new stimulating ideas between the different sub-communities working in the area of algorithms and their applications and the presentation of high-quality novel algorithmic approaches.
