

Special Issue

Vaccine Allergy, Related Side Effects and Safety

Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue, vaccines used in non-mandatory vaccinations other than those that are routine and mandatory in childhood, and vaccines developed to prevent COVID-19 disease, which has recently entered our agenda due to the pandemic, will be discussed. Apart from allergic side effects, related side effects (pseudoallergic effects) will be delineated, and the precautions and practices to be taken against them will be reviewed under the light of current literature.
