Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue aims to highlight advances made in tracing materials through various stable isotope tracers. Specifically, it aims to: a) investigate the provenance of ancient/historic materials such as marbles, mortars, glass, bones etc., b) diagnose the damage through weathering and/or decay mechanisms of historic materials, c) reconstruct palaeoclimate, d) verify the origin of geofluids-pollution and e) study traceability and authenticity of food products. Authors are invited to submit their original research papers that will cover the field of material and environmental isotope fingerprinting, in order to shed light on the complex problems of materials' provenance and/or pollution processes on them.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, Inspec, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Engineering, Multidisciplinary) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Engineering)
