

Special Issue

Forage Systems and Sustainable Animal Production

Message from the Guest Editors

The urgent need to ensure global food security while preserving environmental integrity has placed sustainable agriculture at the center of scientific and policy discussions. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following: climate-smart agriculture, soil and water conservation, agroecology, bio-based inputs, precision farming, renewable energy integration, and circular economy practices in agrifood systems. Contributions may include original research, case studies, reviews, and policy analyses addressing sustainability in both crop and livestock systems across diverse agroecosystems. This Special Issue additionally welcomes insights into emerging tools such as artificial intelligence, biotechnology, and digital agriculture that hold promise in providing a more sustainable and productive agricultural future.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
