10th Anniversary of Applied Sciences: Invited Papers in Applied Biosciences and Bioengineering Section

Message from the Guest Editor

Applied Sciences is going to reach a remarkable milestone by publishing its 10th volume, and in celebration of this special occasion, we have taken the initiative to launch a Special Issue called “10th Anniversary of Applied Sciences: Invited Papers in Applied Biosciences and Bioengineering Section”.

This Special Issue intends to gather moderate-sized review papers featuring important and recent developments or achievements of novel biosciences and biological engineering with a special emphasis on recently discovered techniques or applications. The papers can cover either experimental or theoretical aspects or both. Bioengineering types, clinical engineering, rehabilitation engineering, cardiac bioengineering, neural engineering, tissue engineering, system modeling, biosignal processing, health informatics, bioinformatics, bioprocess engineering, biotechnology, biosensors, biomechanics, biorobotics, cardiopulmonary systems engineering, fermentation technology, food technology, microbiology, etc. are among the main topics.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
