

Special Issue

Advanced Research in Pediatric Obstructive Sleep Apnea

Message from the Guest Editor

The purpose of this Special Issue is to understand pediatric OSA and its pathophysiology, contributory disease, and other associated health conditions. We aim to collect either clinical, translational, or basic research results to promote our understanding of pediatric OSA. We will also accept limited numbers of review papers. This Special Issue will focus on the following:

- Etio-pathophysiology of pediatric OSA
- Accompanying systemic and developmental conditions—contributory factors and sequelae
- Other associated sleep disturbances influenced by pediatric OSA

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
