10th Anniversary of Optics and Lasers Section—Recent Advances in Optical Applications

Message from the Guest Editor

This year marks the 10th year since the inception of the Optics and Lasers Section. To celebrate such an achievement with all of you, in this Special Issue, we are seeking high-quality submissions that highlight emerging technologies and applications addressing recent advances and breakthroughs in the field of Optical Applications. The topics of interest include, but are not limited to, non-linear optics such as high-order harmonics, Raman, wave-mixing, multiphoton ionization, as well as other basic phenomena in this field.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
