Nanocellulose, Nanoencapsulation and Nanoemulsion: Preparation, Characterization and Application

Message from the Guest Editors

Exploring a new frontier in nanotechnology, our Special Issue, "Nanocellulose, Nanoencapsulation, and Nanoemulsion: Preparation, Characterization, and Application", is calling for the attention of researchers to contribute to this area. This Special Issue will be a dedicated platform for exploring novel insights into the physicochemical and functional properties of nanocellulose-based materials and the fabrication and application of nanoencapsulation and nanoemulsion products. Our subjects of discussion will cover the latest methods and technologies in their preparation and characterization and their diverse applications, contributing to the dynamic field of nanotechnology and its relevance across various disciplines and industries. We look forward to the submission of your research and insights on this captivating subject.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
