

Special Issue

Applied Dynamical Systems in Sciences and Engineering

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue aims to present important scientific results in relation to dynamical systems and their applications in various branches of science and engineering.

High-quality articles describing the results of original research are welcome, to bring together mathematicians and engineers, as well as other multidisciplinary scientists. The following non-exhaustive list of topics will be covered:

- Dynamical systems and control
- Bifurcations and chaos in science and engineering
- Stability theory in science and engineering
- Tools for dynamical systems

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
