Technical Applications of Oral Health and Clinical Dentistry

Message from the Guest Editor

Oral health plays a vital role in the health of the body and is intimately associated with human well-being. The increasing development of dental clinical advanced technology provides the public with more reliable treatment options that can aid in the achievement of optimal oral health. This Special Issue focuses on the latest technical advancements in the field of clinical dentistry and oral health, including, but not limited to, advanced clinical technologies, the application of innovative biomaterials, therapeutic methods and new drugs, and special case studies and how they are applied in order to improve oral health. The manuscripts submitted to this Special Issue should address the following topics:

- Prosthodontics
- Oral surgery
- Endodontics
- Periodontology
- Oral pathology
- Digital dentistry
- Dental implants
- Dental materials
- Implantology
- Pediatric dentistry
- Orthodontics

The Special Issue invites researchers in the dental field to submit original manuscripts addressing any of the above-mentioned topics, and jointly provide novel ideas for promoting the development of clinical dental technology and human oral health.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.
